Practice No. 2:

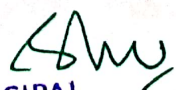

Student Centric Strategies to Ensure An Effective Two-Way Teaching-Learning Mechanism Keeping Pace With The Outcome Based Education

Objective:

The present day education is worldwide experiencing a paradigm shift from the input-output based education to the outcome based education. The student-centric teaching learning process is essentially required in the present scenario. How much the students learn is important rather than how much we teach to them. The institution has therefore taken initiatives to implement the teaching-learning strategies from the students' point of view and how it will help them in their further studies/jobs. Most of the students of this institution progress to higher studies or appear for competitive examinations, relative to the minimal percentage availing the job opportunities. Thus, keeping pace with the modern day higher education is intended from this practice.

The context:

The use of ICT enabled tools is ubiquitous in every sphere of life and is one of the powerful strategies of student-centric teaching-learning mechanism of the outcome based education. Our teachers had to equip themselves on the use of ICT for teaching-learning process by attending training programmes, workshops, watching online videos, practicing the use of online platforms and fixing the related issues by discussions to ensure a blended form of teaching-learning mechanism. Imparting experiential learning, correlating the practical experiences of the students with their applications to the real life problems, cultivating the life-long learning habits of critical thinking and problem solving are essential in the student-centric teaching-learning system, and strategies in this context had to be adopted accordingly. The developing of communication and presentation skills of students was also intended to keep pace with the modern day education.

The Practice

The practice includes the following:

- Assessing the learning levels of students: The first step of student-centric teaching-learning process involved assessing the learning levels of the students and accordingly designing the teaching process. This was done through interactive sessions, question-answer sessions during classes, formative assessments and academic counselling by the mentors. The slow learners were given specific attention through remedial classes and assistance beyond class hours, while the advanced learners were encouraged to participate in competitions, creative writing and processing of their research oriented thoughts in different dimensions.
- Use of Learning Management System (LMS) and computer-aided methods: The practice of using Learning Management System was initiated. All departments were provided with the laptop, desktop and LCD projector facilities to undertake the use of computer-aided methods of teaching. Three classrooms were converted to smart classrooms as the post-accreditation initiative. Faculty members thereafter started participating in the workshops, refresher courses, short term courses on the Development of Massive Open Online Courses (MOOCs), open educational resources, Information and Communication Technology, FDPs on Soft Skills and Personality, Online assessment techniques etc. This helped them to apply computer-aided methods of teaching and the practice proved to be the most effective one during the pandemic situation.. Faculty Development Programme on MOOCs, Open Educational Resources and E-content was organized.
- Video lectures uploading for students: Faculty members of some departments prepare video lectures and upload the same for students in the respective YouTube Channels of the department so that students can learn at any time and at any pace

- Participative learning and choice of elective papers: Students are given the liberty to actively participate in the teaching-learning process. Groups discussions, debates, student seminars, students playing the role of teachers in classroom, story reading sessions, power-point presentations by students and other strategies are regularly organized. Students have the options to choose the generic elective papers, skill enhancement courses and discipline specific elective papers to ensure flexibility in the choice of subjects.
- Cultivating the critical thinking and problem solving skills in the learning process: This was practiced by giving topics of assignments to students but not the answers. They came up with multiple answers and the selected best solution for implementation. Students work in groups during practical's to exchange ideas and solve a problem.
- Handling the issues through an effective mentoring mechanism: The student mentoring system was implemented formally in the institution from the academic session 2020-2021. Mentors organized interactive sessions and kept contact with their mentees to guide them and address their problems as and when required. Special Class has been assigned for each semester in all the departments for mentoring/career counselling activities
- Feedback taken from students on curriculum and teaching-learning process: The learning outcome based curricular framework was introduced by the University since the academic session 2020-21. The feedback on the curricular aspects by the IQAC was taken from students and forwarded to the university with suggestions. Students were asked several questions, which were addressed accordingly such as whether the learning outcomes were discussed with them by the departments, whether the curriculum is need based and complies with their expected outcome, whether the curriculum makes them job ready, whether the computer-aided methods of teaching were used by the teachers, whether the internal assessments were discussed with them etc. The formal and informal feedback received from the students helps to improve the student-centric learning mechanism considerably.

- Students have participated in poster competitions; quiz competitions, presentations and other online events organized by external agencies and also won prizes in national/state events.
- Student project was selected for research publications in various journals.
- The performance of students in university examinations has improved significantly.
- The computer-aided methods of teaching-learning activities adopted since 2020 helped the institution to cope up successfully with the challenges of online education during the pandemic situation since March 2020 and accordingly, the blended mode of teaching is practiced presently to ensure a student-centric mechanism

Problems Encountered and Resources Required

- The teaching-learning activities sometimes suffer time constraints due to prolonged time taken by the affiliating university in conducting the semester examination and commencement of classes of the next semester
- The institution faces the problems of funding for conversion of more classrooms into the smart classroom and the administration has applied for renovation and up gradation of laboratories and classrooms
- Digitization of library and e-resources has also been applied.
- Funding for procurement of more computers is required to improve the student: computer ratio.
